CAREERS EVENT HAILED A SUCCESS

City Ground at Notts Forest hosted the first Nottingham 'Get A Better Job Day' yesterday. The nationwide 'Get A Better Job Day' events deliver quality recruitment and career shows across the country with the aim of providing employment and training opportunities for those in work or people seeking new prospects.

At yesterday's show the emphasis was on retraining and improving skills, something which has become vitally important in the current economic climate. Organisers were inundated with people who had recently been made redundant from major local employers and 51 per cent of the people who attended the show were aged 36 and over with a wealth of experience but just searching for the right opportunities.

Exhibitors were very impressed with the quality of candidates who attended the event. Andrea Huscroft, Business Link's Start-Up Manager said "It was an excellent day for Business Link and very pleased with the quality of the people coming through the door for potential start-up businesses. We will be looking forward to the next Get A Better Job Day event.

Victoria Clarke, Managing Director of Clarke & Tholomew, the company that organises the 'Get A Better Job Day' events', said "We were very pleased with the first event in Nottingham and it proves with this economic climate this can be a great confidence booster for people who have been made redundant or are seeking new prospects. We will look forward to an even bigger and better event in September'.
